Identify challenges in financial assistance that are prohibiting you from properly serving Minnesota Family Investment Program (MFIP) families in your community.

Eligibility Workers are currently facing significant challenges. We are experiencing a record-high volume of applications each month, with some staff managing 35–40 new cases monthly. In addition, recent policy changes in both the Cash and SNAP programs have added complexity to tasks that were once routine—workers now frequently need to consult policy guidelines to ensure accuracy. Another major hurdle is the high call volume. Staff are often forced to choose between processing applications and responding to a constant stream of client inquiries, making it difficult to balance both responsibilities effectively. Compounding these issues, our agency has faced budget constraints this year, resulting in the loss of two eligibility worker positions. This has further increased the workload for the remaining team members.

Identify challenges in employment services that are prohibiting you from properly serving MFIP families in your community.

There is a shortage of childcare providers, particularly those offering flexible hours to accommodate various work shifts. Additionally, limited transportation options in rural areas present a significant barrier for many families.

Identify resources in your community that benefit MFIP families.

Strong community partnerships continue to play a vital role in supporting our clients. We collaborate with a wide range of local nonprofits and partner agencies—including Adult Basic Education (ABE), school districts, Minnesota Valley Action Council (MVAC), the Salvation Army, 12 Baskets, food shelves, and mental health service providers—to connect clients with essential resources. We’ve also built valuable relationships with local employers who are open to hiring individuals with barriers to employment or limited work experience, helping to create more inclusive job opportunities. New initiatives such as the Local Homeless Prevention Program and Getting Ahead in a Getting By World have further supported clients by helping them build social capital, increase stability, and take meaningful steps toward long-term self-sufficiency.

Identify resources that are not available in your community that would benefit MFIP families.

There is a shortage of childcare providers, particularly those offering flexible hours to accommodate various work shifts. Additionally, limited transportation options in rural areas present a significant barrier for many families.

Describe how you are ensuring your services are inclusive for all.

Our MFIP Employment Services are designed to be inclusive, equitable, and responsive to the diverse needs of every participant. We recognize that each individual brings unique strengths, experiences, and challenges. Our approach is person-centered and trauma-informed, ensuring that services are accessible and respectful of cultural, linguistic, and personal differences. We work closely with individuals facing barriers such as limited work history, disabilities, housing instability, or caregiving responsibilities, and we tailor support to help them achieve meaningful employment and long-term stability. Through strong partnerships with community organizations, employers, and support services, we strive to create opportunities for all participants—regardless of background or circumstance—to succeed and thrive.

Describe how you are ensuring your services are accessible for all.

Accessibility Commitment Statement for MFIP Employment Services Our MFIP Employment Services are committed to being fully accessible, inclusive, and responsive to the diverse needs of all individuals and families we serve. We strive to remove barriers by offering services that are physically, linguistically, culturally, and digitally accessible. We provide flexible service delivery options; including in-person, and virtual appointments. Our materials and communications are available in English and Spanish, and we ensure that our digital tools meet accessibility standards. We offer interpretation services, and train our staff in trauma-informed and culturally responsive practices. We also actively seek feedback from participants to continuously improve our services and ensure equitable access for everyone. Through these efforts, we aim to create a welcoming, respectful, and empowering environment where every participant has the opportunity to succeed.

How are you working to advance equity in service delivery in your Tribal Nation / County?

We are committed to advancing equity in all aspects of our MFIP Employment Services by recognizing and addressing the systemic barriers that impact individuals and families differently based on race, ethnicity, ability, gender, socioeconomic status, and other identities. Our approach is grounded in the belief that equitable services are not one-size-fits-all. We tailor support to meet each participant's unique needs, strengths, and goals. This includes: Culturally responsive practices that honor the lived experiences of our clients and build trust across diverse communities. Data-informed decision-making to identify disparities in outcomes and adjust our strategies accordingly. Client voice and feedback integrated into program planning and improvement efforts to ensure services reflect the realities of those we serve. By embedding equity into our policies, practices, and partnerships, we aim to create a more just and supportive system where every participant has the opportunity to thrive—regardless of their starting point.
